#WBW2020 highlights the links between breastfeeding and planetary health. The interconnected nature of people and the planet requires that we must find sustainable solutions that benefit both. We can reduce our carbon and ecological footprints starting with how we feed our babies. Breastfeeding is an example of a sustainable solution.
OBJECTIVES OF #WBW2020

INFORM
people about the links between breastfeeding and the environment/climate change

ANCHOR
breastfeeding as a climate-smart decision

ENGAGE
with individuals and organisations for greater impact

GALVANISE
action on improving the health of the planet and people through breastfeeding Coordinated action for optimal infant feeding during normal times and in emergencies is essential to ensure that the nutritional needs of all babies are met.
Promote IYCF guidelines to develop national action plans & communication messages.

Infant and Young Child Feeding

Counselling Cards for Community Workers

WHAT CAN BREASTFEEDING COORDINATORS DO?
Ensure that breastfeeding protection, promotion & support is specifically included in national emergency-preparedness & response plans.
Create a warm chain of support for breastfeeding by identifying key actors & their roles in the first 1000 days and linking them to each other.

Identify your role in the warm chain and use our information cards to find out what you can do. Once you have identified your role, link up with other stakeholders in creating a warm chain in your country or community.

WHAT CAN BREASTFEEDING COORDINATORS DO?
Allocate resources for community groups to be able to provide basic breastfeeding counselling & other forms of support close to women/parents.
Advocate for placement of appropriately-trained & skilled staff at various levels: peer supporters, health professionals, lactation consultants and resource persons.
A warm chain of support creates an enabling environment that empowers all women/parents to breastfeed optimally. Together, we can achieve a win-win situation for humanity and the planet.

A SUSTAINABLE SOLUTION FOR THE PLANET AND ITS PEOPLE
